Product Discontinuation Notice

Dear Customer

Wire wrap construction became popular in the 1960s/70s principally for the Telecommunications industry. Since this time crimping and soldering have become the most common methods to secure wires in electrical/electronic applications, and with the advent of surface-mount technology made the wire wrapping an expensive technique in comparison, consequently, volumes have seen a major decline over the decades. Additionally, it has become more and more difficult to obtain spare parts for older machines the Wire Wrap Contacts are manufactured on which has led to the decision to decommission these machines in Q2 2024.

The culmination of the above unfortunately means Cambion Electronics Limited hereby give notification that its machined range of wire wrap contacts and associated products will be discontinued, this stated Cambion will accept last time buy orders at the prevailing MOQs up to 31st March 2024, after which any residual stock will be retained, and orders will be accepted up to stock quantity until 30th September 2024.
